WINAICO doubles success in Great Britain

Ecobuild and British branch impress visitors interested in PV

Creglingen, 29.03.2012 – The presence of WINAICO at Ecobuild, the world's largest exhibition for sustainable construction, ecological design and environmental protection in London, was met with intense interest. Hundreds of interested visitors were won over by the exceptional product quality.

“Participation in the Ecobuild was a complete success. Our exclusive, comprehensive insurance package further increased the extensive interest in our premium crystalline modules” says Gary Fuller, sales director for WINAICO UK. The free 2-year insurance protection package offered by WINAICO extends beyond the module and covers the complete system against all material damage, operational interruption losses and any possible reduced yields. The operator has the option of extending the insurance cover to encompass a 10-year period.

“Numerous discussions with qualified installers at the trade fair further strengthened our expansion decision. Discussions that will form a sound basis for many years of commercial relationships” Gary Fuller explains. WINAICO has been successfully serving the British solar market for a long time. As such the British WINAICO branch, close to Oxford, was the logical step in achieving improved proximity to customers. WINAICO UK offers British customers future deliveries from stocks. A service component from which WINAICO customers in Germany, Italy and Australia are already profiting.
